

ABSTRACT

In one embodiment, a raster image processor, which may be part of a printing device or configured as a separate device, includes a processor to parse a print ready file, a rasterizer to translate the parsed print ready file to an intermediate file, and a compressor to translate the intermediate file to an embedded bit-stream

5